

promotional items

Promotional Items are a great way of reminding your customers and potential customers about your business as they go about their daily lives.

Every time they get in their car they could see your name on a tax disk holder or on their key ring making sure that when they do need new tyres they will remember to come to you first.

Opposite is a small range of the types of promotional items we can supply. If you have any specific requirements feel free to ask as we have links with some great suppliers in countries such as China who are able to handle bespoke promotions at great prices.
